ISLANDS MAILS

Case of Believe It or Not!

- Postal service "enjoyed" by Gulf Islanders has long been a source of considerable disaffection.
- An experience related by Wm. D. Gill of South Pender Island accents the situation forcibly.
- Mr. Gill was kind enough to forward to The Review a letter on the subject of islands postal service. Attached to his letter were two envelopes.
- One letter had been posted in the City of Victoria on Thursday, August 15. The other letter, a registered one, had been posted in the City of Calgary on Friday, August 23. These two letters were addressed identically to Mr. Gill. Both carried first-class postage. There was no mistake about their destination. But the amazing thing about the entire matter is that Mr. Gill received both letters simultaneously on Saturday, August 24.
- The letter from Calgary travelled roughly 800 miles by air, was transferred to the M.V. Lady Rose at Steveston and sailed with her to Pender Island. This journey required one day.
- The letter from Victoria travelled in the night boat to Vancouver, presumably reaching that metropolis early in the morning on Friday, August 24. What happened to it then, in all likelihood will always remain a mystery.
- Mr. Gill comments as follows: "How much longer are we people on these islands to wait from nine to 10 days for delivery of mail from Victoria when we have a daily car ferry service from a point 30 minutes distant from Victoria? My wife and I frequently enjoy the receipt of letters from England which take less time to reach us than letters from Sidney or Victoria. Sounds like Ripley's Believe It or Not—but unfortunately it's true. And the fault is certainly not at this end."
- The Review has turned over Mr. Gill's correspondence to postal authorities.

Sidney Village Council Endorses Radio Service

—For Fire District

Sidney village council will support the plans of the North Saanich Fire Protection District to install a radio-controlled fire alarm system in the area next year. On Tuesday evening commissioners examined the various alternatives and finally agreed to fall in line with the fire trustees in seeking a radio system.

The system will be introduced in 1958, when the telephone system maintained by the B.C. Telephone Co. is scheduled to become automatic. The present system of fire alarm in the district depends on the manual control of the exchange. The fire victim reports the fire to the operator, who sounds the alarm and holds the call for the firemen. If the victim is obliged to leave the calls to the firemen. Under an automatic system there is no operator to readily come to the assistance of the victim.

The trustees of the district have embraced a system of radio warnings in co-operation with Saanich municipality. The fire call goes to Saanich Fire Department. The radio operator there sounds the alarm by radio and advises the local fire department of the location of the fire.

ALTERNATIVES
Commissioner Dr. C. H. Hemmings urged consideration of alternative procedures. He cited one community where a system of telephones has been employed. Six telephones ring simultaneously upon receipt of an alarm. Any of the six can switch off the alarm and take details of the fire. There is an arrangement whereby the six telephone subscribers ensure that at least one will be at home at any given time.

Commissioner Hemmings explained that the radio system would entail an outlay of about $2,000 and a maintenance cost of $25 per month plus parts. In addition a fee of $50 per month is charged by Saanich municipality for the service. He had voted against the acquisition of radio gear because he was not satisfied that other channels had been explored. He had later withdrawn his objection, he added. Dr. Hemmings is a trustee of the fire district, representing the village council. Strong advocate of the radio system was the chairman of the fire committee, Cmdr. F. B. Leigh, commissioners learned.

JONATHAN SLATER NAMED Sidney Scout Commended At International Jamboree

Special commendation has been given Jonathan Slater, 17-year-old Sidney Queen Scout, for the performance of his patrol at the recent International Scout Jamboree, at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania.

"Jonathan Slater proved to be an excellent patrol leader. You should be proud of him," said Field Commissioner David Green, of Quebec, in a letter to B.C. Scout headquarters.

Jonathan had with him as his second, Roland Shanks, also of Sidney. Balance of his patrol was made up of boys from the interior of the province. Because the B.C. troops were filled, they were assigned to a group from Quebec, and were unable to travel under their own colors.

Moses Sam Demonstrates Paddle

Warriors' paddles, the kind that will propel 50-foot Indian war canoes escorting the Centennial Year's Fraser brigade from Yale to Vancouver, are exhibited by Moses Sam, left, of the West Saanich Indian reserve, and Chief Elwood Modeste of the Cowichan Indian band.

NO TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Sidney detachment R.C.M.P. reports that there were no holiday traffic accidents in the area under its supervision.

The local force was augmented by several officers and cars from Victoria, in an all-out drive to curtail careless driving during the period.

R.C.M.P. detachment at Ganges was kept very busy over the holiday week-end patrolling and checking boats for proper equipment and other details.

Over 180 boats were in Cowichan Bay alone. The R.C.M.P. patrol boat ML6, stationed at Ganges, manned by Constables Rolf Salverson and Robert Dods, checked approximately 100 boats.

NEW SIGNS

New style of street sign has been approved by Sidney village council. The new signs are of aluminum with polished metal letters on a black background.

AS ROOF RISES

New Drive For Hall Funds

As volunteers and others are engaged in roofing the new community hall in Sidney, a drive has been announced to gain more funds for the project.

The roof is going on rapidly and the building will soon be sheathed. The resultant shell will represent the ultimate within the present financial resources of the responsible Sidney and North Saanich Community Hall Association.

The fund raising campaign will start on September 15. In the meantime donations towards the cost of further construction will be accepted by Cornish's, The Review, and a number of other Sidney merchants.

The association seeks to provide organized recreational facilities for all ages. Further projects include a children's library, square dancing and old-time dancing, art displays, indoor games and a little theatre.

Wire Guards Protect From His Like

Visitors learned on Monday why the wire guards were placed over certain exhibits in the agricultural hall at Saanich fair.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett said on Monday that he had admired the home cooking section of the fair, but that he had been prevented from sampling any.

"You may have wondered what those steel guards were put there for," he observed. "They are there to protect the exhibits from people like myself."

North Saanich

Permits Total $35,000

Despite a steady level of building incidence in the North Saanich Regulated Area since the beginning of the year, the month of August fell heavily below August of last year.

According to the figures released by Building Inspector W. R. Cannon, there were 17 permits issued by his office last month. Of this total six were in respect of dwellings, valued at $30,700, and 11 were for miscellaneous structures, totalling $4,850.

In August last year the total stood at 26 permits, totalling $131,350. Big item was the North Saanich high school extension, whose permit was listed at $75,000. Other permits referred to four dwellings at $26,400 and 21 miscellaneous at $29,950.

The permits are assessed in value by an arbitrary method of calculations and their value is invariably lower than the market value of the structure to which they refer.

Ferry Services Are Reduced

Service on the Washington State Ferries' Sidney-Anacortes run has been reduced to two trips per day.

Sailings will be at 10:30 a.m. and 5:15 p.m. from Sidney until October 15, when there will be a further reduction to one trip per day.

EXCELLENT DISPLAY

Record Attendance For 43rd Island Fall Fair

Brilliant sunshine greeted the record crowd of visitors at the Salt Spring Island 43rd Fall Fair at Fulford hall on Wednesday, Aug. 28.

The exhibition of flowers, fruit and vegetables made a colorful display inside the hall and though there was light competition in many sections, the variety and quality were excellent. The floral arrangements were beautiful.

At 1:30, George Heinekey called upon Norman Mount, who introduced the guest of honor, Mrs. Buda Brown, M.L.A., for Vancouver, who declared the fair open after speaking enthusiastically in praise of the exhibits and the island and the hospitality extended her during her brief visit. She was thanked by Miss S. Reynolds.

Animals came in for their share of the glory; just inside the door, visitors 1, and a cage with beautiful little Chinchillas from the Emerald Chinchilla Farm; a 10-day-old baby chinchilla stole the show and was the centre of attraction for young and old.

A display of seven different colored mink from the Bradley's Mink Farm was a great attraction outside the hall. Earth worm culture from Wally Rogers' Worm Farm at Ganges, rabbits from the S.S. Island Rabbit Farm, and hens, roosters and chickens were placed in shady spots in their cages to be the centre of attention. Water colors and oil paintings made an attractive display and there was good competition in the home cooking. Needlework, crafts and woodwork showed excellent craftsmanship.

SPORTING EVENTS

A number of sporting events and amusements kept the crowd busy outside. The sheep dog trials by W. Evans, with his wonderful dogs, was a great attraction and was repeated later for the benefit of late-comers.

Exhibitions in horsemanship by Thousand of holidaymakers took advantage of the brilliant week-end weather to enjoy the facilities of the Saanich Fall Fair. Increase in the number of exhibits, coupled with a notably high quality in a number of sections attracted comment from many visitors.

The fair opened on Saturday when large numbers of visitors toured the fair at their leisure. On Monday the numbers were substantially increased and the grounds were crowded throughout the afternoon.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, introduced by President Albert Doney of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society, sponsors of the fair, officially opened the exhibition on Monday afternoon. He expressed his pleasure at being so invited and commended the directors for their high standard of accomplishment.

"This is the garden spot of British Columbia," said the premier, "It is a beautiful spot here in Saanich and you should be very proud indeed."

In these days of fast moving, people are inclined to overlook events of the past, noted the premier, but the earlier sponsors of the fall fair had contributed substantially to the development of the fair.

"Through good times and bad; through peace and war, Saanich Fall Fair is the only fall fair in British Columbia which has held its place for 89 years," said Premier Bennett.

The premier also expressed his pleasure that Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., M.P., had been given a prominent place in the new Dominion government. Sharing the platform with the new minister of national defence boded well for the future of relations between the two senior governments, quipped Mr. Bennett.

Mr. Pearkes then extended his congratulations to the sponsors of the fair. It would leave a distinct gap in his calendar if his affairs were to preclude his attendance at the annual Saanich fair, he said.

Mayor Percy Scourrah, of Victoria and Reeves Arthur Ash and H. R. Brown also spoke briefly. Mr. Doney introduced G. T. Mitchell as "grandfather of the fair". Mr. Mitchell is a past president of the society and a prominent member of a pioneer Saanich family. He told the audience that he had taken

SECOND LOWEST

Salt Spring School District makes a proud boast this year. Already operating on one of the lowest mill rates in the province, the school district imposed a rate of 10.6 mills last year. Despite increased costs this year the rate still stands at below 11 and ranks as the second lowest in the province.

In despite of the low mill rate the district operates an accredited high school and staff continuity has been satisfactory over the years.

AIR TRAVEL STILL RISING

Record number of passengers boarded TCA planes at Patricia Bay Airport during August.

Figures released this week revealed that 16,588 persons were carried from here during the month, which is normally the period of heaviest travel in the year. The number is about 700 more than that of last year.

Boardings were exceptionally great for the Labor Day holiday week-end, but exact figures are yet known.

MAINLAND VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Bompas and family, John Dean, Park Road, recently returned from a holiday in Penticton, travelling through Washington.

Sidney Airlift

Hundreds of Pounds of Fish Go Out

Publicity value of Vancouver Island salmon is evidenced by the steady flow of fish aboard T.C.A. planes out of Patricia Bay throughout the season. The fish are caught in local waters, mostly off Sidney and Brentwood. They are quick frozen in Sidney and held until the anglers responsible have reached home. The fish are then specially wrapped and put aboard a direct-connecting flight out of Patricia Bay by Trans-Canada Air Lines.

Shipments range from one small fish up to many fish weighing several hundred pounds. One of the originators of the system, G. A. Gardner, of Sidney Cold Storage Ltd., comments that the fish are displayed with pride by the anglers concerned. He bases his conclusion on the fact that most shippers want the heads and tails left on the fish despite the added weight to be freighted.

This week's shipments of air-lift fish from Sidney have gone to Long Beach, Arcadia, Garden Grove, Los Angeles, Pacific Palisades and Beverly Hills, all in California; Bechtel, New York; Ties Summit, Missouri; Calgary, Winnipeg and Montreal.

Shipments are delivered almost anywhere in Canada or the United States the same day.

George Cochran, dean of Sidney's retail businessmen, has sold many a pair of shoes. But he established somewhat of a "back-to-school" record last week.

A family from one of the Gulf Islands visited Cochran's Shoe Store. He sold one new pair of shoes for each of the nine children.

The proud father produced three $20 bills to pay for the shoes. Mr. Cochran, ever sympathetic, gave a generous discount for a quantity sale. The bill came to exactly $57.67. The children are now back at their studies, proudly wearing their new shoes.

James White Boulevard, The new road is named in honor of Sidney pioneer resident, J. J. White.

THIRD ASPECT
LAND OCCUPANCE AND USE
To determine what physical changes are likely to occur in the municipality as a result of an increasing population it is necessary to examine recent trends in the occupation of the land and the size of the holding.

The survey of the municipality shows the occupation of the land as follows:

| Land Occupation               | Acres  | %    |
|-------------------------------|--------|------|
| Land — 90 house-holds         | 4,280  | 37%  |

Interviewed, under construction, streets, public property.

While most of the land is owned by those who occupy it, many farmers have informal leases on adjacent property which accounts for 908 of the 4,280 acres occupied by farm households.

FARM LAND
The households which derive their main source of income from the sale of farm products fall into two main classes. One-third are general farms mainly for the production of livestock and dairy products, and two-thirds are specialized farms, mainly for the production of horticultural crops, poultry or fur.

The average size of these farms is 88 acres and 94% are over 20 acres. The average size of the livestock farms occupied by their present owners for less than 10 years, however, is only 58 acres, which may indicate a downward trend in size.

Most of the livestock farms have a long tenure, only 36% having changed hands in the last 10 years. The specialized farms occur on the higher, better drained land which is least subject to frost. Some of this land is classified as conditionally fertile and requires irrigation. The average size for horticultural farms is 24 acres, for poultry farms 15 acres, and for fur farms nine acres. The average size for all specialized farms is 14 acres and 92% are over five acres. There has been no appreciable change in the size of specialized farms occupied by their present owners for less than 10 years, compared to

SPEAKER IS HUSBAND OF FAMOUS FISHERWOMAN, ROTARIANS TOLD

Current topical subject, fishing, was the program for the Sidney Rotary Club on Wednesday, Aug. 28. Rotarian J. J. Woods introduced the visiting Rotarians from Victoria. Rotarian A. G. Rodgers has as his guest Rolf Kliven, physiotherapist at Rest Haven hospital, who is leaving for Sweden after two and a half years in Sidney. President E. Slegg wished him God speed on behalf of the community, and the Rotary Club.

Rotarian W. J. Wakefield was in charge of the program and introduced the guest speaker, Lee Hallberg, who chose as his subject, "Conservation and Progress". Mr. Hallberg has been interested in fishing and wild life since his boyhood days in Alberta, and is now a radio and TV personality and can speak with authority on sport fishing.

Mr. Hallberg came to Vancouver Island in 1919 and since that time has taken a great interest in the conservation of fish.

He gave a report of how progress in farming, logging and power conversion on Vancouver Island had affected the sport fishing. At the Cowichan river there was a time when 20 to 30 thousand spring salmon spawned. Three years ago only 5,000 were counted going up the river, he stated. Logging is mainly responsible for spoiling the spawning grounds, but this is progress.

WATERSHED

It is now recognized that if a natural watershed of trees had been left for the width of a mile on either side of the river this deterioration would not have occurred. Facts and figures were given, showing that sport fishing is a substantial industry. Millions of dollars are spent each year by sport fishermen.

Gourmet's Temptation In Millions

This B.C. gillnet fisherman has just hauled aboard one of the millions of silvery salmon which tempt gourmets all over the world. The chances are it is heading straight for a can in one of the province's modern canneries. Salmon are the principal species in this key primary industry which returns 60 to 80 million dollars annually to British Columbia.

Following the opening the platform guests were entertained by a mass group of Highland dancers.

WINS AGAIN

The classes within the agricultural hall were substantial and showed a high standard of accomplishment. They included vegetable and fruit classes, home cooking and produce and household and other arts. Winner of the Michell-Turgoose trophy, awarded for the highest aggregate score in the hall, was won by Mrs. J. C. Erickson, who gained the same award at the 1956 show. Mrs. Erickson also received the Mrs. W. D. Michell trophy for the highest standing in jays and preserves.

Display in the honey class was down this year. A number of beekeepers explained that the production by their bees has fallen off this year.

On Saturday the feature of the day was the western riding classes when the group put their animals through their paces. The Monday show was given by the saddle horse classes and the showing maintained a steady crowd of spectators throughout the afternoon.

Always an attraction, the Highland dancing drew a large crowd throughout the demonstration. From juveniles to high school students, the dancers showed a lively pace as they went through the tra-

GAIN NOTE AT RECENT P.N.E.

Exhibitors from this area were awarded several prizes at the recent Pacific National Exhibition at Vancouver. Among the winners Nathan E. Watts, Sixth St. Sidney, in the natural wood finish class; Mrs. Edith Jones, McTavish Road, metal tooling and oil painting, and Miss P. M. Baker, also of McTavish Road, with entries in the rabbit division.

Members of the Saanich 4-H Goat Club were outstanding. John Howe, Saanichton, was awarded two firsts and a third, with his doe, Snowflake, being judged senior champion. Farren Cooper's Cloe took first prize for young goats, and was named junior champion. Paul Howe gained one second and one third prize.

William Taylor, Saanichton, was prominent in the Holstein cattle judging division.

ditional Scottish dances in full Highland costume. The dancers come from all parts of the province to attend the Saanich fair.

Sidney Rotary Club did a steady business with the midway. On Monday four rides for children were added to the other entertainments. Tractors and farm machinery brought youngsters from every part of the island to try out the equipment and the display extended to a number of cars and trucks.

The 89th fair proved to be a showing in keeping with the long history of the annual function.

IS IT TIME TO CHANGE?

FOR the past several years Saanich Fair has been extended to a two-day fair. At one time it was strictly a Labor Day event and Saturday was spent in the final preparations. It is now open on the Saturday and a large number of visitors are to be found throughout the first day of its opening.

The official opening at mid-day, or thereabouts, on Labor Day, at one time, marked the beginning of the afternoon's events and was significant for that reason.

On Monday afternoon Premier Bennett appeared to open the fair. The entire structure of the exhibition was already in full swing and many of the visitors failed to realize that the formality was then taking place.

Had the opening been scheduled for the first day of the fair there would have been greater opportunity for broadcasting the incident and for attracting attention to the formality.

Is it time that the sponsors examine the picture with a view to advancing the opening formality? An official ceremony on the Saturday would agree more nearly with the chronology of the events even if not with the tradition of Labor Day opening.

A PLEASING REFLECTION

WHILE across the Dominion and across the continent, Labor Day spells an increased incidence of accidents on the roads, there was no instance reported last week-end of a road accident within the North Saanich area or on the provincial highways of the Peninsula.

This is a commendable report and one which makes for considerably more pleasant reading than the list of injuries and deaths connected with the holiday period.

While the freedom from death or injury is in part attributable to a close check on driving and general road usage by the police, it is also a tribute to the driving habits of local residents, who started out keenly aware that it was a holiday and that careless driving habits could bring disaster even more quickly than at normal times.

This is the kind of record which speaks well for the district and its motorists.

HE KEPT THE WHEEL TURNING

AS SANSCHA stands back to demonstrate a material achievement in the shape of the rising new community hall on Beacon Ave. there comes the announcement that S. N. Magee has resigned from the executive.

For the past several years Mr. Magee has headed the ways and means committee of the community hall association and he has contributed in no small degree to the success of the organization. Responsibility for an arduous duty and the onus of attracting working members to his committee has entailed long hours of effort. The committee head has devoted those hours freely and uncompromisingly.

When the association possessed virtually no funds it was Mr. Magee who came forward with innumerable schemes for raising funds and he was entirely successful. Always behind the scenes and rarely rewarded with the acclamation of the membership, Mr. Magee has made a first-class job of his committee.

When the community hall is ultimately finished it will be a tribute not only to the community members who supported it and donated their labors to the task, but to the man who kept the wheels of finance turning, Stan Magee.

THEY CAN'T GROW UP

LAST week-end saw the staging of two salmon derbies by island groups. As a vast horde of enthusiastic fishermen went to the sea in boats an undercurrent was evident from all reports.

Fishermen and sponsors alike spoke at length of the dearth of large schools of fish. Many successful anglers also bemoaned the poor selection of heavy fish in local waters.

In the past there have been many voices sounding warnings against the depletion of reserves of fish in the island waters. Today there are many fishermen who are ready to assert that the present dearth of large fish is a direct result of the factors so long deplored.

While we have not all enjoyed fishing for the past century, there are many stories to be heard of the magnificent fishing of earlier years and the almost unlimited store of fish in the Gulf waters at that time.

Our own untutored opinion is that the dearth of fish in local waters can be attributed to another cause altogether. Today sees an ever-increasing number of small boats plying the waters seeking the elusive salmon. What salmon are left are divided up among still more anglers.

There may well be safety in numbers, but the unfortunate fish, we suspect, is on the other side of the fence and rarely, today, enjoys the necessary life span to grow into the massive fish once eagerly awaiting the lure.

Reflections From the Past

10 YEARS AGO

Rendered unconscious by carbon monoxide fumes from the exhaust of his launch, W. L. L. Barker, Portland Island, had a narrow escape from death near Shoal Harbor on Wednesday.

TCA planes carried a record number of 5,477 passengers from the local airport during the month of June.

Thomas (Bert) Bath was installed as president of the Sidney Rotary Club at a dinner-meeting Wednesday night. Other new officers were L. Chisholm, secretary-treasurer, and George Fleming, David Holden and Stan Watling, directors.

Trapshooting hit the headlines when J. L. (Joe) North eluded in the B.C. doubles championship at Vancouver, and led the Class A team from the Victoria Gun Club which trimmed their opponents in a five-team competition.

The opening of Sidney's newest hockey rink was held up for a few minutes in sports to the community.

Bryan and Don Forster, both skilled athletes, plan a complete barber shop service in their new quarters next to the Local Meat Market on Beacon Avenue.

An effort has been made by John A. Hendy to increase the food supply for fish and water fowl in St. Mary Lake, Salt Spring Island. He has imported sweet flag roots, bulrush, and Wapato duck potato from Wisconsin for experimental planting.

Among the pupils of Eric Edwards who took exams of the Royal School of Music (London) at Victoria and passed were: Joanne Crossley, Peggy Ann Woods and Elisabeth Bosher.

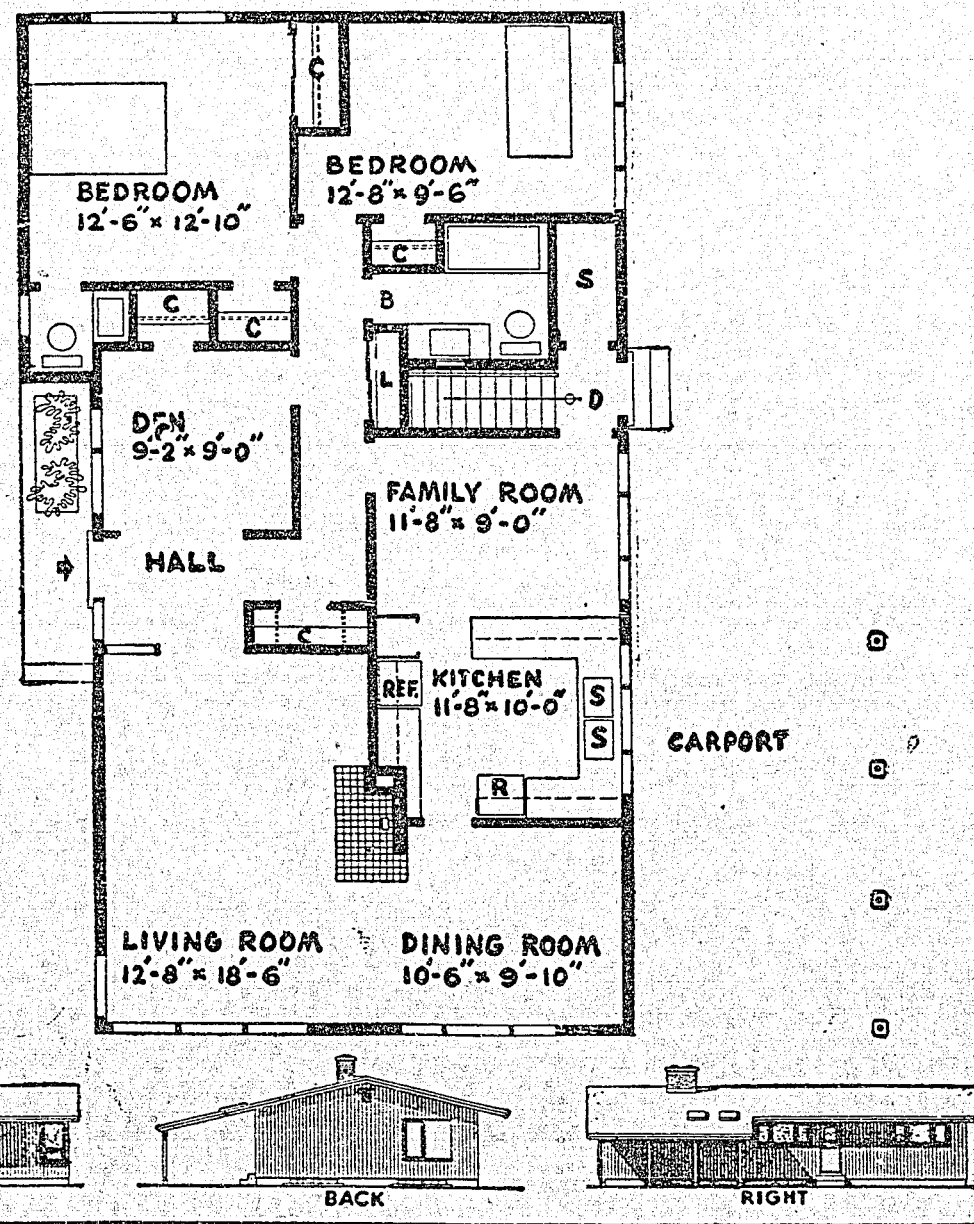

Plan for control of zoning, health and building regulations will be investigated during the summer.

Hosekian received the letter from the hands of the messengers and read it and went up and read it before the Lord.

New Canadian House Designs

DESIGN 267: Adaptability to either a corner lot or a narrow, inside lot frontage is one of the features of this interesting design by architect M. G. Dixon, of Ottawa. Total floor area of the house is 1,359 square feet and the exterior dimensions including carport, are 40 feet, eight inches by 50 feet, eight inches. Working drawings of the plan may be obtained at minimum cost from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

months by the executive of the Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce, for presentation to a general meeting of the group in the fall.

20 YEARS AGO

Agreement was reached between the fire protection committee of the Sidney Businessmen's Association and the Sidney Water & Power Co. Ltd., for the installation of a hydrant at the corner of Orchard Ave. and Sixth St. The committee, offered the Water Company stand pipes, which they had acquired on the dismantling of the Sidney Lumber Co. plant, for use in other parts of the district.

Speeds in excess of 40 miles per hour are dangerous on any part of the East Saanich Road, according to Saanich police, who last week-end warned several motorists during a traffic safety drive. Even yet, they reported, many motorists do not seem to realize that a full stop is required before entering upon an arterial highway.

Members of Ruth Chapter, O.E.S., had a delightful summer afternoon for their annual garden party, held this year at the home of the Worthy Matron, Mrs. H. E. Beattie, Deep Cove.

Work is underway in connection with the appraisal of sites for the proposed airfield to be built by the Department of National Defence. There are some opposed to the idea, but the majority of residents seem to think that of this area is suitable for a defence base they should be patriotic enough not to oppose the undertaking.

The prize of golf balls donated by Mrs. Pownall for the Friday four-somes at Ardmore Golf Club was won by Mrs. Brodhurst and Rev. T. M. Hughes.

Monthly meeting of the Saanich Jersey Cattle Club was held at the home of W. D. Michell, with President Ian Douglas in the chair.

30 YEARS AGO

Annual meeting of the War Memorial Park Society was held Tuesday night in Matthews' Hall. Trustees elected were: A. Chivert, G. T. Michell, E. R. Hall, C. E. Jeffery, S. Roberts, and W. H. Davies.

Defeating Tillicums by a score of 6 to 1, Sidney won the Commercial Baseball League for the second successive year.

An eight-foot seam of coal was discovered when a well was being sunk on the property of Mr. Nelson (formerly of Breeds Cross Road) who is building in the Deep Cove district near the Chale Hotel.

With shares at $2,000 each, a group is being formed to convert 204 acres between Patricia Bay and Deep Cove into a residential and sports area for the Towner Bay Country Club.

On Paws

The self-opinionated "Pom", (who sang, all out of tune, To an organ, or a piano, or a too-romantic moon).

The "little gentleman", in brown; the "marmoset", in grey; The "little chap", with laughing eyes, who hadn't long to stay
None will ever be forgotten. I remember them—

Because

They were gallant little friends of mine

On paws.

Each one was "of the family",—each solemn puppy-face
Mirrored grave responsibility, as guardian of the place;

So, although each growth of friendship brought the sorrow
Of farewell.

Dreaming, I have seen them romping in far fields of asphodel.
And, on waking, thought I heard again the clatter-clat
Of claws;

And sensed a warmth, and welcoming,

Of paws.

Letters To The Editor

THANK YOU, R.C.M.P.:

Editor, Review.

Sir:

Like most people this past holiday, we spent part of the week-end travelling on the highways. Between Sidney and Alberni there were about 12 R.C.M.P. cars that we saw patrolling the highways or parked watching the traffic; we did not "see any ghost cars" but then we are not supposed to, are we? It was amazing to see the effect these R.C.M.P. cars had on the traffic; everyone we saw obeyed the rules and I'm sure driving tension was lessened.

Between my husband's driving and the patrolling R.C.M.P. cars I spent a completely relaxing holiday and would like to say a warm "thank you" to the R.C.M.P. officers.

The Review's Book Review

"On the Beach", by Nevil Shute. Morrow, 320 pp. $4.25.

Nevil Shute wandered into the future when he depicted a socialized Britain and a loyal, right-wing Commonwealth. The future, like the Australian climate, must have agreed with him, for this, his newest is set in the year, 1963. It is improbable, yet infinitely possible. Shute sees the day when the world is in state of chaos following indiscriminate use of nuclear weapons. The Australians, in company with a F. G. Richards United States submarine crew, are aware that within six months death is inevitable. The radiation factor of the atmosphere has reached the point where it is lethal and the characters in his story are awaiting its arrival.

The possibility lies in the human unawareness of the potential dangers accompanying indiscriminate use of atomic power for weapons of war. The improbability lies in the reaction of a continent and a world to imminent, certain death.

The story is interesting and will hold the reader's attention. It is not equal to his more down-to-earth novels, because the reader's credulity is stretched by the circumstances depicted, without the additional problem of absorbing the details.

The geographical reference to Seattle and Vancouver Island are intriguing until the reader realizes exactly how calmly his absence is being considered. This may well prove to be the destiny of all or most of us. We can only trust that the writer is wrong. We can further trust that if he is right, then his forecast of reaction to such a state might be less fatalistic and exasperatingly unemotional.

The book will probably rank

WORLD RECORD

A Russian parachutist, Nikolai Nikitin, made a delayed drop of 45,932 feet, a world record for a free fall. It beat by 6,560 feet a Russian record established 12 years ago.

"Talking It Over"

PASTOR T. L. WESCOTT, B.A.,
Stuggitt Baptist Church,
Brentwood Bay

"Study to show thyself approved."
—II Tim. 2:15.

This week as we travel the roads we see some old familiar objects which we have missed lately. The "Caution, School" signs are up again, the school buses are again seen in early morning and afternoon and at certain hours roads are alive with children.

So we must use caution that they may live and learn.

But why does a child attend school? The answer is obvious—"so that he may study to show himself approved unto the teacher, his parents, and later to his fellow citizens and his country." It is the person who learns who is best equipped to do his countrymen service.

Let us now finish the clause in our verse, "Study to show thyself approved unto God." Just as a child needs to study for his life in this world man must also study before he can truly be of service to God.

Does God approve of your labours for Him or could you be better equipped by reading more of His Word?

Solarium Is Their Only Hope

It is children such as these who speak loudest in praise of the Queen Alexandra Solarium. ## MODERN ETIQUETTE

— By ROBERTA LEE —

Q. Is the typewriter now proper for social correspondence?
A. Yes, it is correct for many personal letters, especially long ones. Formal notes are preferably written by hand—and invitations (except engraved ones), acceptances, and regrets, written in the third person must be handwritten.

Q. When salad is served with the main course at a dinner, does it have to be eaten with the salad fork, or may one eat it with the dinner fork?
A. Although the use of two forks is considered correct, you may use the dinner fork if you wish.

Q. If men are sitting near, should a young woman offer her seat to an old woman, when on a bus or streetcar?
A. If one of the men does not offer his seat, the woman should.

Q. Is it proper to call on friends who have recently moved into a new home, even though you have not been invited?
A. If you are sure they are well adjusted in their new home, it is quite all right to call on them. It might be well, however, to phone them first and ask them if they will be at home at such-and-such a time.

Q. Several business girls I know ride on the bus in the mornings with their hair in pin-curls, combing their hair out when they arrive at the office. Is this proper?
A. No well-dressed or proper woman goes out in public with her hair in pin-curls.

Q. When a man is escorting two women to the theatre, does he sit between them?
A. No. If he did, he could not talk with one without turning his back to the other.

Q. I should like to mail out announcements of my forthcoming marriage, but my parents live in another town. Since the announcements are issued in their name, should they be mailed from their town or mine?
A. The postmark is not important.

Q. I have noticed an ever-increasing use of profanity by both men and women, in the business world and socially. Is this practice more acceptable now than formerly?
A. Not at all. People of good taste, and certainly women, can

Salad Sandwich Loaf

Pretty enough for a party, this gay salad sandwich loaf is one of the easiest refreshments you can serve. One loaf yields 10 or 12 generous slices; one slice equals several tea sandwiches. The home economists of the Canada department of agriculture, consumer section, say that the loaf should chill for several hours before slicing so you can put it together in the morning, all ready for serving. The salad sandwich loaf in the picture is garnished with a tomato rose, cress and chopped parsley and some of the cream cheese frosting has been forced through a cake decorator to make a rippled edging around the top of the loaf.

SALMON ARE NOT CO-OPERATIVE DURING FULFORD SALMON DERBY

The Fulford salmon derby was held on Sunday, Sept. 1, and as usual, boats of all sizes were out at dawn to try their luck. The weather was wonderful but the salmon were not too plentiful, although some nice fish were weighed in at Fulford.

Mac Mouat came in with an imposing 17 lb. 14 oz. salmon, the largest caught. The rest of the fish were small—down to two pounds. But everyone had a lot of fun, and Les and Mary Mollet were kept busy weighing in the small fish. The smallest was a one-ounce grise, brought in triumphantly by Mrs. Humphreys.

The winners were: Mac Mouat, 17 lb. 14 oz.; Sheila Reynolds, 4 lb. 2 oz.; Eddy Mouat, 5 lb. 12 oz.

Other winners were Jimmy Okano, C. Hogan, David Field, B. Sampson, J. Foubister, Art Bradley, M. Gardner, D. Winters, Mrs. L. Mouat, Earle Hardy, Buzz Brown, L. Mouat, M. Mellish, L. G. Hamilton, Mrs. A. Bradley, Mrs. R. F. Vapaavouri.

Consolation prizes: Mrs. J. Grosart, garden table and chairs; Miss N. Fuckle, luggage set; J. Duck, electric frying pan; Ruth Heineke, garden chair; A. H. Smith, electric clock.

Guests staying at Aclands on Booth Canal, included: Mrs. Dawson and Miss Buntly Dawson, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. R. Taylor and family, Laurie, Vivien, Deborah and Howard, Nanaimo; Miss Elizabeth McMurray, Mr. and Mrs. Brian Donnelly and Denis, and Kim Weaver, Victoria; J. Davidson, Miss Janet MacKenzie and Miss Frost, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton, West Vancouver; Miss Sue Griffin, Montreal; Mrs. Williams and Miss P. Williams, England, mother and sister of Dr. Ivor Williams, Ganges.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gear, Marguerite and Alan, spent a few days' holiday in Vancouver last week. They also visited up the valley, and took in the P.N.E.

WEEKLY REPORT OF NORTH SAANICH STATION

GREENHOUSES

Automatic ventilation of greenhouses by expelling the warm air by means of exhaust fans is a comparatively new innovation. In British Columbia there are all told probably less than a half dozen such ventilated greenhouses.

At Saanichton one such house is undergoing tests. The Saanichton automatic greenhouse is essentially a 104 by 211-foot wide structure divided into four equal sized compartments each of which has its own independent automatic ventilation system. It is automatically ventilated to the extent that when the air temperature in any one of the compartments rises higher than any desired setting, an exhaust fan at the centre of the ridge in the roof cuts in and forces the warm air out. This causes the outside air to be pulled in through the four intake vents to each compartment, two on each side-wall. These are fitted with louvers which open and close whenever the exhaust fan starts or stops. With the exception of the intake and exhaust openings the greenhouse is as air-tight as it is possible to make it. With this arrangement it is obvious that the amount of cooling is dependent upon the outside air temperature.

In order to determine the efficiency of the new ventilation system for warm, summer weather operation, numerous temperature records were taken at various times during the daytime and at various positions in the greenhouse. These temperatures were then compared with the temperatures taken at identical positions in a similar but old style ventilated greenhouse.

The old style system which is still the commonly used one today, ventilates by having the ventilators at the ridge and at the walls wide open. Results of this test disclosed that under the prevailing warm weather conditions between August 19 and 23, the new system kept the greenhouse up to 3.6 degrees cooler than did the old system, depending on the day. On one of the five days there was no difference in temperature between the two houses. From the standpoint of plant growth this small difference in favor of the automatic system is hardly significant, at least not at the inside temperatures obtaining during the test.

From the operator's standpoint, however, it is important to know that the automatic system will match and even surpass in ventilating and therefore cooling, the manually operated system. It also means that the operator need not be ever-present in order to look after the numerous opening and closing of the ventilators to suit the rapidly changing moods of the weather to anything near the extent that would be required with the manual system. While this brief test shows up the automatic system in a favorable light, tests are nevertheless continuing.

CREDIT UNION DANCE DRAWS YACHTSMEN

A successful dance, country club style, was held in Hope Bay Hall on Saturday evening, sponsored by the Pender Islands Credit Union. Some 60 guests enjoyed the music, dancing and refreshments, many visitors being present from yachts moored at the wharves.

Twelve holidaymakers from San Francisco, aboard the Westward Ho, out of Seattle, discovered a country dance for the first time, and found it a fun-packed experience.

Proceeds from the affair will go toward defraying convention expenses.

Could be that if hotter days had prevailed during this test period, the automatic system may have had too limited a capacity. Time will tell.

Among the keenest viewers will be residents of Saturna Island, the majority of whom had never seen the creatures which entered the aquarium on the island beach.

The following day some shingles were blown a distance away and started a spot brush fire.

This spot was also attended by the Forestry Service.

WELL-KNOWN RETIRED RESIDENT OF LOCHSIDE DRIVE SUCCUMBS

The death occurred suddenly in London, England, on Monday, Sept. 2, of Alfred E. Cross, aged 67 years, well known retired resident of Lochside Drive, Sidney. With Mrs. Cross he flew to his native Britain four months ago on what was to have been a six months' visit.

The deceased came to Canada with his family as a young boy, residing in Edmonton, Alta. There he was employed by the Edmonton Bulletin and afterwards learned the photographic trade, studying in New York. He was connected with the C.P.R. hotel chain as a photographer and also served with hotels in Bermuda and other countries.

For many years he operated a successful commercial photographic studio in Lethbridge, Alta., retiring from the business 12 years ago. He established a home at Deep Cove and later built his modern home on Lochside Drive which he occupied in 1949. He was exceedingly active in many different community enterprises, including the Rotary Club. He attended the Rotary International convention in Lucerne, Switzerland, this year.

The deceased is survived by his widow, Mrs. Clara Cross, who was with him at the time of his passing. There are three children: Pearl of California, Walter of Montreal and Reginald, in Lethbridge, Alta. A sister, Mrs. E. Goodson, resides in Bedford, England.

His older son, Walter, flew to Britain this week, funeral arrangements are not known at present.

Signs Of Approaching Autumn

Leaves are already turning color as the advent of the autumn is in the trees. While residents and tourists alike are enjoying the last fling of an Indian summer, gardeners are preparing for such scenes as this when the ground is overlaid with fallen leaves.

Wildlife And Forest

Hazard conditions are becoming increasingly severe with the rapid growth of tourist traffic and the opening up of new forest areas to the public. Another important hazard factor is the rapidly increasing acreage of second growth timber which is much more susceptible to fire than our old growth stands. There are many reasons why second growth is more vulnerable than old growth. The old-established forest enjoys numerous advantages over young growth. Higher humidity in the dense forest stands and less hazardous undergrowth on the forest floor discourages fire, while the thick bark of the mature trees protects them against flash burns.
